

- Our Tactical Ad Hoc Network Mobile Hybrid Cyber Ranges can be rapidly deployed, operational, trading off high-performance with flexibility, and resiliency while being capable of supporting mission-critical services such as remote navigation and control, coordinated mobility and decision making even in highly contested environments.
- These ranges automatically adapt to various forms of mobility, link breaks, jamming, node failures and message losses while providing reliable behaviors even large-scale rapidly changing multi-hop topologies.

